Today is the 31st Sunday in Ordinary Time and we hear first from the Book of Wisdom. We are reminded that even the smallness of the universe compared to God's expansive powers does not prevent God from loving all things. Since we love within the limits of our humanity, it is difficult for us to imagine this. In our attempts at love, sin still creeps in and often makes human love conditional, rather than unconditional. The message of Wisdom is clear: God's love, exemplified by his constant mercy, will never cease. God hates nothing he has created. Everything that is belongs to him. I'm always baffled by how some strongly religious people can say that God, for example, hates gay people. God created them and he loves them as equally as he loves the next person he created.

For the next three Sundays, our second reading will come from Paul's second letter to the Thesalonians. In this letter, he is writing them to avoid false teachings regarding the parousia, or the second coming of Christ and to endure patiently until the Lord arrives. Paul is asking them not to panic because of a rumor, etc. predicting that the day of the Lord is imminent. "Remain calm," is his message. The early church had an enormous struggle with this issue as they initially felt the second coming of Jesus would occur almost immediately. When it didn't, they began to lose faith.

The opening paragraph of today's gospel sets the scene for this well-known gospel passage. Zacchaeus, whose name means "clean," was not highly regarded because he was a tax collector who was very wealthy. The story will not disparage him for his wealth, but rather will show how followers of Jesus can correctly manage money and possessions by sharing them with the poor. Zacchaeus' joy as he receives Jesus into his home is countered by the grumbling of the crowd because Jesus is eating at the home of someone they consider a sinner. Whether Zacchaeus thought himself a sinner or not is immaterial. What is important is that he decides to give half of his possessions to the poor and return fourfold anything he has extorted. His words express a commitment to a new life, a life changed because he has found Jesus. Because he is a descendent of Abraham, Zacchaeus is a sign that salvation will come through Israel.

Celebrant of the Saturday evening 5 PM Mass at St. Patrick's next weekend will be Father Dennis Martin, chaplain at St. Vincent Health Center. Celebrant of the Sunday morning 8 & 10:30 Masses at St. Patrick's and the 9 AM Mass at St. Hedwig's will be Monsignor Richard Sullivan, the retired pastor of St. Andrew's Parish. I'm going out to Palm Springs, CA for a week to visit with old friends, but I promise to come back!!

In last week's bulletin, I noted that November is traditionally the month when we pray for the dead and I listed some of the old customs and superstitions that surrounded death. Let me share with you today how our Jewish brothers and sisters deal with death.

Belief about the afterlife among the Jews varies if the person is Orthodox, Reform or Conservative. At the time of death, a person's eyes are closed, and the body is covered and laid on the floor. Candles are then lit and the body is never left alone. Eating and drinking around the body are not permitted. In Jewish law, being around a dead body causes uncleanness so often the washing of the body and preparation for burial will be carried out by a special group of volunteers who consider the deed a holy act. Jews may not be cremated or embalmed. In Israel a coffin is rarely used but elsewhere a coffin is almost always used. The body is wrapped in a white shroud. Burial takes place as soon as possible following death. A family member will throw a handful of earth in the casket with the body to put the body in close contact with the earth. Jewish law also says that each grave must have a tombstone to remember the deceased. A candle is lit after returning from the cemetery to mark seven days of mourning, called Shivah.

When Sister Marie Therese died recently at our own Carmelite Monastery, she was not embalmed, was dressed in her Carmelite habit and laid on a raised table just inside the grill which separates the chapel where the nuns pray from the public chapel. She was facing the grill, had no shoes on her feet and rose petals were scattered on her body and around it. At the time of burial, she was covered with a shroud and lowered into the grave. No coffin is used and usually the other nuns in the monastery would have dug the grave, lowered her in and then shoveled the dirt back in. Because there are only two nuns left at Carmel and they are both in their 90s, others did the grave work.

Several parishioners have asked me where they can get the homilies that Pope Francis gives each day at his Mass. Google "Whispers in the Loggia," and then scroll down on the right hand side when it comes up and you'll find a box with a variety of news items in it. Pope Francis' homily is always in there. They are relatively brief, very easy to understand and powerful. In addition, a young man in the parish who works in this field is designing a blog page for me so that I can put some of Pope Francis's homilies, etc. on there for you to read. I can also post other Catholic happenings so that we're all better informed of some real renewal that is going on in the church today.

I have just made the move from St. Hedwig's to St. Patrick's third floor. Once I get everything squared away, we'll have an open house after weekend Masses if any of you want to see it. It has turned out very nice, and I'm thrilled.

In the process of putting in an apartment, we ran into electrical problems; in fact we discovered that there have been sparks in some of the boxes in the attic. When we re-wired the church as part of the restoration, Tom Church told me that this house has to be re-wired, and so we decided to go ahead and completely re-wire the rectory. You have no idea how nice it is not to have fuses blowing all of the time when we run our computers and other office equipment. Because the parish has grown so much, the office staff has also grown and we're constantly having to reset fuses. I do not think anything has been done electrically in the house in probably over 50 years.

Paddy was driving down the street in a sweat because he had an important meeting and couldn't find a parking place. Looking up to heaven, he said, "Lord, take pity on me. If you find me a parking place, I will go to Mass every Sunday for the rest of my life and give up me Irish whiskey!" Miraculously, a parking place appeared. Paddy looked up again and said, "Never Mind, I found one!"

The Minister Schedule for November has been emailed and mailed via post office to those without an email address. Extra copies are available in the Trinity Gift Shop.

Please remember in your prayers the families and friends of Gary King, son of Deacon Jerry and Joan Peterson. Also, remember the families and friends of Colleen Brosnan. Both funerals were held at St. Patrick's last week. May their souls and the souls of the faithful departed rest in peace.

Barb Lechner, Linda Cook, Carolyn Kacprowicz and Cheryl Stephany are four ladies who call on our parishioners who are shut-ins or in nursing homes. Their visits are much appreciated by these parishioners. If you know someone who would like a visit and some pleasant conversation, call the office with their information. 454-8085

THE FOOD PANTRY is requesting donations of "gently used" children's books. These books are given to children of the food pantry. This is different from the Christmas book drive. Boxes will be available on the rectory porch and in the vestibule of the church. If you cannot get them to us, call the rectory at 454-8085 and arrangements will be made for someone to pick them up. The "lending" library for the adult clients at the food pantry has been very successful. If you would like to donate to that library, you may leave your donations in the same boxes used for the children's books. As always, thank you for your generosity!

A Moment of Reflection

Reading I: Wisdom 11:22-12:22

Reading II: 2 Thessalonians 1:11-22

Gospel: Luke 19:1-10

It is not difficult to identify with Zacchaeus, the tax collector. At some point in our lives, we all end up out on a limb. Not fully satisfied with life, we feel the need for something more, something deeper. Despite wealth, power, and position, Zacchaeus didn't have it all; he was lost because he was trying to live life on his terms. If we respond to Jesus the way Zacchaeus did when asked to come down from the tree, we will mature spiritually and be transformed, changing whatever in our lives needs changing. When has dissatisfaction with the way things were, moved you to seek God?

MSGR. KRIEGL'S HOMILIES ARE ON-LINE IN AUDIO AND VIDEO FORMAT. Be sure to check out St. Patrick's web-page to listen to Msgr. Kriegel's homilies. Go to saintpatrickparisherie.org Click on "homilies" on the bar to the right and then the date of the homily you want to hear. The video homilies are available on "you tube" and can be watched by clicking on the bar that says "video homilies" on that page. We are still working on a few glitches but the site is up and running and being viewed by over 500 people per week.

We Remember Them

In the rising of the sun and in its going down, we remember them.

In the blowing of the wind and in the chill of the winter, we remember them.

In the opening of the buds and in the rebirth of spring, we remember them.

In the blueness of the sky and in the warmth of winter, we remember them.

In the rustling of the leaves and in the beauty of autumn, we remember them.

In the beginning of the year and when it ends, we remember them.

When we are weary and in need of strength, we remember them.

When we are lost and sick at heart, we remember them.

When we have joys we yearn to share, we remember them.

So long as we live, they, too shall live, for they are now a part of them, as we remember them.

A Family Perspective

Jesus is saying to you what he said to Zacchaeus, "I must stay at your house today." It doesn't matter if in today's gospel Jesus "intended to pass through Jericho to another town." In families we sometimes stop at the wrong places. It is wisdom to "pass through" annoying family situations so we can enjoy the goodness of each other.

Cancer Support Group

Individuals and families dealing with cancer are invited to share thoughts, hopes, angers and fears about cancer. The Cancer Support Group is led by Deacon Tom Matusiak who was a cancer caregiver. It is open to all people who are open to God's presence in their lives. The Cancer Support Group meets on the 3rd Thursday of each month at St. Mark Catholic Center, 429 East Grandview Blvd., Erie in the Bishop Michael J. MARRIAGE MOMENTS

"Dear God, I'm American. What are you?" (Robert, age 5) Sometimes we try to make God fit our own notion of patriotism. It's fine to be proud of one's country, but God is bigger than any one nationality and loves all people, even those we love to hate. Do you and your beloved ever disagree about politics? Vote with respect for the other this Tuesday.

PALS Support Group

PARISH RELIGIOUS EDUCATION WEEK is being observed and celebrated nationally, November 3-9. The overall theme is "Encountering Christ Everyday" with a focus on lifelong faith formation (from "womb to tomb"). Remember in prayer, those of our parish faith communities who help adults, youth and children know and love Jesus Christ and the Church more deeply through religious education efforts.

ROMOLO CANDY SALE – The Eastside Catholic Faith Formation Ministry is selling Romolo Candy in the months of October and November. Please contact Kathleen Kutz in the Faith Formation Office: 454-6322. The money from the ROMOLO Candy Sale will be used for the Missions and the ongoing purchase of Catholic Youth Bibles. This candy sale is replacing bake sales and the pancake breakfasts we have had the past five years. We are grateful for your generosity in the past and hope you will support us in our ROMOLO Candy Sale at this-time. The following packages of candy are available at $1.50 each: "Grandpa Romolo's Famous Sponge Candy; Chocolate Covered Almonds; Chocolate Covered Pretzels; Solid Chocolate Miniatures. God bless you for supporting the Eastside Catholic Faith Formation Ministry!

NEED PRAYERS?

Please call Mary Alice Hartwell at 454-5908 to have your prayer intentions placed on our joint parish prayer wheel. Please be assured that your prayer requests will be treated with respect and confidentiality.
